The Bristol Press

2012 New England Newspaper of the Year | Saturday, August 17, 2013 | BristolPress.com | $1.00

SERVING THE COMMUNITIES OF CENTRAL CONNECTICUT

WORLD

Clashes in Egypt leave at least 60 dead

PAGE 22

BRISTOL

School board announces new principals

PAGE 4

LOCAL

Bristol native hard at work for CCSU football

PAGE 29

WEATHER | PAGE 12

'Hospital sale not dead'

Gov. Malloy taking time to consider deal with Vanguard

By STEVE COLLINS

BRISTOL — During a visit to Insane Irving's Friday, Gov. Dannel Malloy said his talks with were helpful.

Kurt Barwis, the hospital's CEO, because of concerns the for-"a good undertaking" that will continue.

the proposed sale of the hospi- out the ramifications.

He called the discussion with tal to Vanguard Health Systems profit hospital chain would fundamentally change the nature Malloy said that he vetoed a of Connecticut's system of health Hospital is not dead. He gave no Bristol Hospital's leader this week measure that effectively blocked care before the state could figure indication, though, that it would communities are protected," Malloy said.

He said the sale of Bristol See GOVERNOR, Page 4

Man a-boot town

Gov. Dannel P. Malloy tries on a pair of cowboy boots with help from Insane Irving's Connor McCarthy during a news conference to promote Connecticut's sales tax-free week Friday. The savings program begins Sunday and runs through Aug. 24. See story and photos on Page 3.